

Convention of the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Summarized with AAC(Augmentative/alternative Communication) presented by

 H & C
Scott H Kuebler and Ronald C

Kuebler. This presentation takes into account that many persons who want to understand the "Convention" may benefit from the use of symbols when it is described. The

  A
presenter uses a ChatPC with

Picture Communication Symbols(PCS)

 &  to  explain and
and synthetic voice to explain and summarize what the "Convention" content is.

Preamble gives a view of what the situation is in the world. Also tells why the "Convention" is needed and

who is affected by it. Article 1

  2
describes the purpose. Article 2 explains what different words mean.

Articles 3,4,5 tell about principles, obligations and equality. Articles 6,7 address  different  groups of people.

Article  8  is  important because  it says "let's  all  get together and  talk about  what  to  do." Where equality  is  affected  is explained in  articles 9,10,11,12,13,14,15 and 16  16. What  areas of life that need equality  are described in  17-30.

 Information  and  organization  to  make this  worldwide  is  covered in Articles 31-39. Articles 40-50 describe procedures  to  share  information and  ways  information  should be reported.

The best way to understand this document is to read the whole thing and then look at pieces a little bit at a time. Group discussions may help you understand it better. Know that this is intended to make everyone in the world know that persons with disabilities need all of our help to achieve equality all over the world. The optional protocol to the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities is added to the "Convention" but will not be summarized here. Each one of us  needs  to  do  everything  we can  to  tell  people  all  over  the world  about  the  Convention  on  the Rights  of  Persons  with  Disabilities.
